A Fire That Leads to Life A Fire That Leads to Life: An Exploration of the Anthropology of Fire is a 1992 book by Jack Goody. This was an intellectual history of the use of fire to create a great civilization, beginning with the prehistory of Homo sapiens and moving forward into the space age. History Goody's thesis is that fire can be seen as the spark that started a process that led to the physical technologies, social customs, and arts developed by humanity, and that all of these together led to the modern world. The book was the first book published on the subject of the anthropology of fire, and builds on numerous previous studies. Fire has always been an important part of human society, although 3e33713323
