I would like to be notified about new notifications in Android L, but the dialog comes up every time I scroll down on a page, and it takes 2-4 seconds to open and close. Is there any way to suppress it entirely or to speed it up? A: Yes, you can. Google has introduced some extra settings to that so you can turn notifications OFF completely in settings. Go to Settings > Google > Notifications > Customize button. Tap in the following box No notifications for the app shown in the box A: Go to your Settings > Notifications & App notifications > App notifications Under "App notifications" Important: You will need to make changes in App notifications - Notifications & App notifications > App notifications, so don't forget to back out again if the changes aren't working as you expect Tap the switch to turn off App notifications, or tap the slider to turn it up. Please do accept this answer if you think I'm right. :) Q: Vue js $vm.$parent issue I want to pass a function as a prop to a component but the $vm.$parent.$vm.filter function is not working. I have commented $vm.$parent.$vm.filter function. Is there any other way to achieve this? export default { data () { return { filter:'{}' } }, 6d1f23a050
